DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 6, line 2, recites "said impedance adjusting member".

It is unclear if the term "said impedance adjusting member" is equivalent to the term "an impedance adjusting insert", or not.

For purposes of examination it was accepted that the terms are equivalent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

1. Claims 7, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bassler et al

Bassler et al (US 6,379,184) disclose (Fig. 2, 3,6) an apparatus comprising

a housing (130)

a plurality of signal (140) and ground (150) contacts exposed from said cavity, said signal contacts being arranged in differential pairs an impedance tuner (112).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 4-6, 9 -20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bassler et al in view of Fogg et al

With regard to claims 1, 2, 4-6, 9-11, 15, and 18-20, Bassler et al disclose a connector assembly including:

a connector housing (130);

at least two signal contacts (140) arranged as a differential pair and a ground contact (150)

an impedance tuner block (112) insertable into the housing , said tuner block having at least two channels and a plurality of isolation ribs

Bassler et al do not disclose an impedance adjusting insert.

Fogg et al (US 5,975,960) disclose an impedance adjusting insert (32).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Bassler et al connector with the impedance adjusting insert, as taught by Fogg et al, to optimize impedance characteristics of the connector.

With regard to claims 12-14, 16, and 17, Bassler et al when modified by Fogg et al disclose (Bassler et al) a plurality of dielectric isolation ribs (formed in the tuner body by the specified configuration of the channels).

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bassler et al in view of Fogg et al as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Ortega et al.

Bassler et al when modified by Fogg et al disclose all of the limitations except for a ground contact separating each of said differential pairs.

Ortega et al (US 6,527,587) disclose a connector where (Fig. 1) a ground contact (28) separating each of said differential pairs (24).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Bassler et al-Fogg et al connector with the arrangement of the ground and signal contacts, as taught by Ortega et al, to optimize impedance characteristics of the connector.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2, 4-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
